Pray a little stronger

We are NOT going to sing a little louder. We are going to pray and act a little stronger.

A popular life-defender flyer includes a story told by a member of a small country church in Nazi Germany. During the Jewish holocaust, a train passed by the Christian Church noisily each Sunday. Along with the clacking of the railroad tracks, the voices of humans crying out could be heard. Worshipers knew this was a death train.

They decided they could do nothing and turned their minds and hearts away from the tragic reality. As the train passed each Sunday, the congregation would sing their hymns a little louder so they would not hear voices crying out for help.

With the 2017 return of abortion to Waco, Christians face a similar situation. Central Texas Christians will not sing a little louder. Indeed, in the month of October, Christians are coming together in the 40 Days for Life prayer vigil on behalf of adult and preborn victims of abortion. We will allow our hearts to be broken.

Thank you to all prayer volunteers who come out during daylight hours for prayer at the sidewalks of Planned Parenthood in support of decisions affirming life and for the eventual end to abortion in our city. The 40 Days for Life prayer vigil in Waco, and in 374 other cities worldwide, continues through Nov. 4.
